Review sheet for Chapter 9: Social Learning Theory
What is the agentic perspective? How does it differ from classical behaviorism?

What is triadic reciprocal causation? How does it work?

What is modeling?

What is observational learning? What is an example of the experimental methodology used to study observational learning?

What three factors influence modeling? How do they work?

What are the four observational learning processes? How do they work?

How does reinforcement differ in social learning from classical behaviorism?
   In what 4 ways can an individual experience reinforcement in observational learning?

How does psychotherapy work from a social learning theory perspective?

How does social learning theory believe that the media influences violence in the world? What are some limitation of this theory?